THE MAIN ENTRANCE begins to feel like home.

The 1959 Dodger Presents

Intangible feelings are the heart of a happy school year. The feeling of joy of moving to our new school and the feeling of nostalgia for our old school marked the high point in the school year. Everyone realized that they were leaving behind a great deal but looked forward to the new school. These feelings were manifested by the events at Dodger High and are presented to you in the 1959 Dodger. The staff desires to present:

CARL T. FEELHAVER
Superintendent of Schools

E. PAUL SEYDEL
High School Principal

Years of Planning Climaxed

As superintendent of schools, this was the year to which Mr. Carl T. Feelhaver had been looking forward. Under his management the new High School and Junior College building was officially opened November 3. In spite of all the decisions connected with the new building, Mr. Feelhaver found time to efficiently take care of all the myriad responsibilities connected with his position in the community.

Always knee-keep in administrative activities during the regular school year, Principal Paul Seydel was given added responsibilities to his normal duties when he was presented with the new High School key by Ewald Trost, vice-president of the Board of Education. Yet aside from his busy schedule, Mr. Seydel was able to find time to maintain high standards of education in the new building.

FROM THE SKY the vast home of the Dodgers produces a striking view.

By Move To The New Building

If any question arose concerning athletics or disciplinary action, Forrest Marquis was the man to see for advice. As Vice-Principal, Mr. Marquis kept track of all attendance records and saw that our athletic program was arranged for the benefit of everyone. Mr. Marquis was given added responsibility as Fort Dodge played host to neighboring towns during the sectional basketball tournaments of the Iowa Association.

Among the many duties of Howard Hughes was that of scheduling the extra-curricular activities for the High School and Junior College. This involved many hours of planning. Mr. Hughes was also responsible for the various assemblies. Along with these duties, the Dean of Junior College always found time to listen to a problem and served as friend and advisor to approximately 200 Junior College students.

Math, Science and Social Studies

Mathematics and science prepared students for the ever increasing technology of the space age.

Students in trigonometry experienced an introduction into a new form of mathematics-algebra by sets. Students in algebra and geometry studied the application of mathematics to the modern world and the space age.

The chemistry and physics students learned the importance of science through demonstrations and laboratory experiments and applied the knowledge they learned to produce projects for the Science Fair. Students in biology gained a clearer understanding of the life functions of plants and animals. It was a busy year in science.

Were Essential To Modern Living

Movies, pamphlets, and panel discussions were a big help in putting across a point to the social studies classes. Weekly current affairs newspapers were received by all the students to keep them up to date on world happenings. Newly formed this year was the Youth Forum Club, which featured speakers who traveled extensively.

Sophomore classes were taught the problems of world leadership and balance of power between nations. Juniors learned some of the background of federal and states rights. Government and economics were taught to seniors in civics classes. They realized that they soon would be a part of their nation's government.

Studies of Languages and

The sophomore's initiation to high school English included minimum essentials, outside reading, and theme writing. Junior classes read Giants in the Earth and found that reading for enjoyment can also be very informative. Seniors wrote a research theme first semester and studied Shakespeare's Macbeth during the first part of the second semester.

Every skill learned in English classes proved useful to foreign language students. "Parlez-vous Francais?" and "Hablo usted el espanol?" could be heard every day in the corridor outside rooms 8 and 9, headquarters for the French and Spanish teachers, Miss Demorest and Mrs. McLees.

Tales of the Gallic Wars could be heard around Room 7 where Latin was taught by Miss Boxwell.

Cultures Promoted Understanding

First year foreign language classes concentrated on grammar, while second year classes advanced to translating.

Vocabulary tests and verb conjugations meant studying late and cramming those first few minutes before class began. Translating meant more than vocabulary and verbs. It also meant learning facts of French, Latin, and Spanish history and culture. Movies, papers, and records made the students feel more comfortable with their new language as they grew familiar with life in other lands.

This year marked the second year for the counseling program directed by Mrs. Hammer and Mr. McCaffrie. Problems of every type were brought before the two counselors who explored every possibility for an answer to a student's questions.

Iowa Employment Tests were given to seniors during the year to reveal the specific capabilities of the individual student. The results of these tests were used to show students the best path to a successful career, whether it meant going on to school or going directly into a job out of high school.

College catalogs were studied by both the advisors and students to find the college best suited for the students. The possibility of a student getting a scholarship meant phone calls to the right people and applications filled out correctly. All of this meant more work for the advisors, who did it gladly, for they always had the welfare of the individual student in mind.

New Skills Were Learned

The vocational training program offered many students the opportunity to decide and prepare for a future career.

In homemaking, clothing, and home-planning, girls found the answer to many of their problems concerning serving, cooking, and the designing of homes for their future.

The future of many boys was also decided in such subjects as shop, graphic arts, and vocational agriculture. Here, as well as in art classes, many beautiful and useful projects were the end results of concentrated hours of effort.

"ELBOW GREASE" says Dick Huen and Larry Jordison makes the project shine.

CAREFUL PRE-PLANNING gives that tailored look, Miss Read points out to Ardis Johnson.

ACCURACY increases speed. Miss Flom observes Annette Johnson and Carolyn Worseldine in an accuracy drill.

GIFT WRAPPING presents in sales class are Oliver Johnson, Joliene Heinlen, Gail Lowrey and Maurice Freund.

Experience - An Important Asset

Typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and general sales classes were taught that speed and accuracy was what employers sought. Students taking part in the co-operative program had a chance to prove this theory by actual experience in offices, hospitals and stores.

First year typing classes found that accuracy must be learned first, and speed would come with time. Shorthand students saw that shorthand was a new language which had to be thoroughly studied. Balancing the books meant late hours for bookkeeping students. General sales classes had a chance to display their know-how in window displays for the first time this year. Through co-operation with businessmen, they were able to decorate a large window outside room 12.

Secretarial training, taught in the second year of typing and shorthand, prepared the student for office jobs by first hand experience with every machine used in an average office. Many students in these classes helped school officials by typing for them and at the same time getting valuable experience.

Varied Courses Met Needs Of All

Using the library was one of the high points of moving into the new school. New conference rooms, magazine shelves, and lounging facilities made studying in the library a privilege.

The gym teachers found that the new gym meant more room for the students to use some of their excess energy. Participating in basketball, badminton, and volleyball kept the students in top physical condition.

The music department also had many added features in the new school which helped the students develop their talent.

Student Council Enjoyed New Room

This year the objective of the Student Council was "Democracy in Action." Added to the forty-eight members' routine responsibilities was that of aiding in orientation of the student body in the new building. Under the effective leadership of Everett Pierce and Bruce Nelson, the council was involved in many projects.

The council members were thrilled with their new facilities. The "six-foot" kitchen was a prize as well as the spacious room for conducting meetings. The council operated the concession stand during the sectional tournaments and part of the profits were used to buy two tree lamps to be used for dances and in the council room.

The council was represented at district and state meetings. The officers attended the state and national leadership training camps at Iowa State Teachers College and Camp Cheley in Estes Park, Colorado. The council ended the year with a party in the new council room.

Honor Paid To Outstanding Students

In its second year in Fort Dodge High School, the National Honor Society did much to encourage and improve the educational standards of our school.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Demorest, the society firmly established itself into our school life. Throughout the fall and winter, the eleven members elected last year carried on many worthwhile projects. These included the establishment of an honor roll.

On February 25, in an assembly in the Little Theater, twenty new seniors and sixteen new juniors were taken into membership. The formal induction ceremony was held in the Little Theater on April 9. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria after the ceremony. Guests included the parents of the students, friends, and faculty.

The new members were judged on four points: scholarship, character, leadership, and service. To be qualified for this organization, a student must be in the upper one-fourth of the class. Not more than 5 per cent of the junior class and 10 per cent of the senior class can be members. After the names were checked by the faculty, a committee composed of eight members made the final selection of candidates.

Dodgers Were Active In Many Clubs

Excitement and gaiety filled the French Club room when Sans Souci met for their monthly meeting. The purpose of their meetings was to learn more about the French people. At one of their first meetings they elected Rosemarie Frohlich, President; Mike Larson, Vice-President; Carol Dunn, Secretary; and Judy Schnurr, Treasurer. Special programs included reports, films, and a Christmas party at the home of Lorna Borgstrom.

Checking books in and out of our new library kept the Library Club very busy. On the second Tuesday of each month the business meetings were held under the leadership of the President, Marylou Kester. Besides these meetings, the club took part in the Homecoming Program, and enjoyed a Christmas and Valentine Party.

The clanking of cash registers and the rustling of Christmas wrappings were indications that the members of Distributive Education were busily at work learning the various arts of their trade. Monthly meetings were held third period. During this time various speakers talked to the members about their vocations, and each told how he was doing on his job. All clubs were chartered by the student council and semi-annual reports of the clubs activities were prepared.

Clubs Aroused Interest In Languages

The members of Fiestas Sin Siestas got together once a month in order to learn more about their Spanish speaking amigos. The various programs, under the direction of Dennis Price, the Vice President, included a Christmas potluck. In the spring an initiation picnic was enjoyed by the 23 members. The colorful meetings, headed by the President Carolyn Kuhn, included skits, movies, and interesting reports. Sally Echternacht collected the club dues while Rosemarie Frohlich kept the minutes.

To promote enthusiasm of the Latin students, S. P. Q. R. prepared many interesting meetings. Marking the beginning of the year was the initiation banquet and party planned by the older members. Two other projects of the Latin Club included a float for Homecoming and studying for the National Exams. Honoring last year's senior members, the Latin Club held an entertaining Christmas party for them.

They Energized Our Pep

Always there to support the teams in times of victory and defeat, the cheerleaders for this year added pep and variety to school activities. Before moving out of town, the Dodger mascot, a three year old blond named Debbie DiNoto, added a bright touch to the games.

With originality and ingenuity Sondra, Ruth, Marilyn, Kathy, Sandra and Judy sparked the school spirit with exciting pep assemblies and sponsored bus trips to the out of town games.

Unending efforts to improve the home games resulted in consistently good attendance at the games. Dressed in their new, dazzling, white jackets, they carried the Dodger spirit wherever they went.

Under the direction of Mr. Lake, the Pep Band enlivened our basketball games and pep assemblies with their rhythmic music. With their playing "Up Fort Dodgers" and many other songs, our athletic events seemed more complete.

Journalists Impressed With New Room

From top to bottom:

Has anyone ever heard of the Big Dodger office being in complete silence? This could hardly be true for the 1958-1959 staff of twenty-two members, who were kept as busy as little bees in carrying out their duties of scheduling pictures, watching deadlines, planning layouts and writing copy, creating headlines, and checking identifications. Members of the staff worked hard and furious to try to reach their appointed deadlines. It was a lot of hard work but the experience gained in journalism was well worth the time spent.

The Big Dodger staff's competent advisor, Mr. Clair Culver, and student editor, Sally Echternacht, worked diligently and continually in coping with the problems of which events of the year should be covered and in carrying out the theme, "What's New." This theme was chosen by the staff members after discussing many original plans and ideas. Of course, many moans and groans were heard during those hours of making a final decision. In the early fall the business manager launched the sales campaign by tacking up posters in the halls and class rooms. Staff members were also kept busy helping push the sales by speaking in classes and visiting homerooms. 1,056 books were sold to the student body.

"HOW SHALL WE DISPLAY THE LETTERMEN?" John Lewarne, Ted Masser, and Angie Asche solve this problem.

Meeting Deadlines Kept Staff Busy

All members of the Big Dodger were selected to become a member of the staff in the spring of 1958 by a group of teachers with the advice of Mr. Culver. As soon as they were organized, noon hour meetings were held, in which the make-up and layout of the yearbook were discussed. Final staff selections were made by testing their ability to prepare write-ups and captions.

During their eventful year the budding journalists kicked up their heels at a Christmas party, December 22 and after dancing in room 102 everyone scurried to Tony's for something good to eat. Also, many members of the staff joined together in building a float for the Homecoming parade, which won first place as the most humorous entry.

Finally the copy was finished and was sent to the printer. Then, at last, the 1959 yearbook was ready to be previewed. It seemed to the staff that the Journalism Banquet would never come, at which time the 1959 Big Dodger had its first preview. It was really a thrill for the members to see their ideas and hard work all compiled into a brand new shiny book.

This year a new feature was a yearbook party in the cafeteria. At this time everyone had an opportunity to get autographs of their high school friends.

From top to bottom:

"WE'LL HAVE SOMETHING FOR YOU TO TYPE soon," reports Martha Lewis, Janet Stell, Jim Prendergast, and Mary Jeanne Robinson to typist Bonnie Hoyer.

Headed for Careers In Teaching

Prospective members of the teaching profession learned many insights into the career during the school year.

Under the guidance of Miss McCluskey and Miss Alexander, thirty members of Future Teachers participated in a variety of programs. Included in the program was a visit to Lincoln and Butler schools. Mr. John Ogden, special education instructor of Webster County, spoke on the fields of special education. Several students from Iowa State Teachers College, who were practice teaching in Fort Dodge, told of their teaching experiences at one of the meetings.

Presiding over the business meetings was Bonnie Hoyer. Marilyn Mace took over for Bonnie when necessary. Tucky Wheeler kept all the minutes, and Ruth Glesne was in charge of the finances of the club.

Service Minded Girls Joined Y-Teens

The Senior Y-Teens met once a month under the sponsorship of Miss Robinson and Mrs. Griffiths.

This year the Seniors were very active in helping with Red Cross boxes. During the Christmas season the Y-Teens held a potluck supper at the Y. W. C. A. The members also helped entertain during the Homecoming Assembly. The officers were Bonnie Hoyer, President; Judy Pohlad, Vice President; Sherry Locatis, Secretary; and Emilie Berg, Treasurer.

The Junior Y-Teens were directed by Miss Hanson and Miss Stoner. This year's officers were President, Mayre Kopp; Vice President, Bonnie Friesth and Secretary, Judy Addington.

They made doll clothes for children in hospitals, helped in the canteen during the basketball season, and had a hair stylist speak.

Little Dodger

Undertaking the task of publishing the bi-monthly school paper were seventy-five members of the Little Dodger Staff.

Starting the year was the election of Sue Ondrick as editor and appointment of Greg Olson as assistant editor. Miss Larkin, who was advisor of the paper, and Sue appointed editors of each of the various departments. Jeff Terrill was appointed editor of the advertising staff. Editor of the sports staff was Bud Beamer. Jane Beamer headed the news staff and Judy Conlin the feature staff. Virginia Horton was in charge of the circulation staff. Head of the make-up department was Bill Schnurr. Twila Anderson and Vicki Weiss were typist and proof reader.

The members of the various departments worked hard to meet their deadlines and to put out an interesting, well written paper. They were responsible to over one thousand subscribers, which included all holders of activity books, besides special subscriptions and alumnae. The paper went to subscribers in 10 states.

Captured The News

The main issues included the Christmas edition, the Daffy Dodger, and the Senior Section. Special features in the Christmas edition included Christmas stories, and letters to Santa from senior girls. Everyone chuckled over the mixed-up Daffy Dodger which reversed all the facts and left only one serious page. The senior section was devoted to the seniors and their graduation activities, including their future plans.

All these issues required lots of hustle and ambition in order to cover all the events and special stories.

For relaxation from their busy tasks, the members enjoyed various types of entertainment. For a few of the students, the highlight of their year was their trip to Iowa City to the Journalism Convention, in which they heard various lectures and made many new friends. Another highlight of the year was an all-staff party held late in February, which was enjoyed by the entire staff.

Cowboys and Gals Kicked Up Heels

The setting for the romantic tale, Oklahoma, was the prairie of around 60 years ago when the cowboy was being supplanted by the farmer. The plot of the story revolved around the courtship of two pretty farm girls by their cowboy swains, despite the rivalry of an itinerant peddler and a saw-tempered hired man.

The production began and ended with the entrance and exit of the Show Shop orchestra. Without the music they provided during the show, it would not have been such a hit.

This musical is started off with Curly singing "The Surrey With the Fringe on the Top" to his sweetheart Laurie who then sang "People Will Say We're In Love." Ado Annie, the girl who "Cain't Say No," then entered and was followed by her suitor, Will. A comical peddler, Ali Hakim, reversed all his salesman tricks to avoid marrying Annie. Jud, the hired man, was the villain of the tale and was out to get Laurie. Aunt Eller was the motherly aunt who helped solve all problems. Dances and colorful dancers added much to the operetta.

The entire cast ended the show and brought on the applause with their last spectacular number, "Oklahoma."

Joyful Melodies Swelled

Spirited quarter notes, sharps and flats, and a rhythmic beat all swelled forth from the A Cappella Choir department this year, as each member's voice vibrated in harmony. The Choir's year was filled with bundles of new opportunities and exciting experiences. Highlights of the 77 voice choir's year was the Christmas Concert; the operetta "Oklahoma"; the spring assembly and their trip to St. Olaf College. At St. Olaf the choir joined in an annual music festival, which was a real thrill and exciting undertaking for the members of the choir.

The A Cappella choir was certainly "on the go" this year and had a season that was filled with excitement. The Choir's capable director, Mr. Donald Walker, and the choir officers were also kept busy outlining the year's calendar. The Choir's final performance was at the Senior Sermon, after which the seniors left with much regret while the remaining members looked forward to next year.

Training Choirs Learned

With the blending voices of the Training Choirs, joyous musical notes rang from room 15 second and fifth periods on Tuesday and Thursday. The members of the choirs worked and trained in preparing themselves for a prospective future in A Cappella by learning the important phases of vocal music, such as pitch, rhythm, tonal quality, and developing the proper technique for acquiring a good voice. Much emphasis was put on recognizing key signatures, and counting various musical phrases.

Open to anyone interested, the choirs gave an excellent opportunity for experience to young talent. The two groups performed as a unit in the annual Christmas program and in a spring assembly. Auditions for the A Cappella Choir were held in the spring and Training Chorus members were chosen to be added to next year's list.

A special feature of the A Cappella Choir this year was the organizing of two small singing groups; the girls' sextet and a group of three boys and a girl, better known as the "Corduroys." These units entertained for the spring assembly, civic organizations, and church groups in the city.

Organizations Kept Students Busy

Along with the new building this year, a new and inspiring girls' musical organization was formed, adopting the title of the Girls' Glee Club. The club's purpose was to train and prepare girls interested in vocal music for future opportunities and experience. The girls joined in blending their voices in the presentation of the annual Christmas Program and the spring assembly. The club was under the direction of Mr. Walker, with Pat Nordstrom presiding as the club's president.

With the new facilities made available by the move to the new high school, the Future Farmers of America had many chances to widen their field of knowledge.

The year was highlighted by the "Safe Corn Harvest" project. They attempted to make the farmers observe safety rules during corn harvesting.

Other activities were the Parent-Son Banquet held in February, the food stand at the football games, and the trips to the state and national conventions.

Snappy Routines Captured Audiences

Highlighting the half-time shows at home football games and parades in Fort Dodge was the Marching Band. The band, directed by Mr. Lake, was led by alternating Drum Majors, Jean Warner and Crystal Bell, along with eight energetic majorettes and flag-twirlers. The master of ceremonies for the year was Dick Ross.

Every morning and Thursday night, the band could be found hard at work on their routines for Friday night. Some of the best shows that were produced were: "Calypso Holiday," "Junior Joins the Band," "School Personalities," "When Grandad was a Lad," and "Puppy Love." The season was highlighted by the homecoming activities and the annual out-of-town trip to Mason City.

The eighty members of the band also marched in several parades during the year, including Dick Nixon Day and the Homecoming Parade. The Marching Band proved to be a popular attraction at all of the football games.

Spirited Music Played

As soon as the football season was over, the Marching Band shed their hats and belts to become the Fort Dodge High School and Junior College Concert Band. Under the directorship of Mr. Lake, the band kept a heavy schedule of concerts for this year.

Appearances were made at assemblies for both the Junior High School and Senior High School, and the annual Tri-City Band Festival. The latter was held in Fort Dodge this year, with bands from Ames, Webster City and Fort Dodge participating. The guest conductor for the concert was Dr. Lu-

Adding to the effectiveness of the band were the small groups that were organized. They played for several organizations, as well as in concert with the band. Among these smaller groups were the brass sextet and the woodwind quintet.

For the fourth year in a row, the band received the award of First Chair of America. A plaque was also presented to Mr. Lake.

Orchestra Strive for Perfection

The orchestra began in September to get in tune for its heavy concert schedule. At the end of the Marching Band season, the brass and reed instruments joined the orchestra, and things got into full swing.

The pre-Thanksgiving Concert was their first appearance. Because of the lack of school space, it was given as an evening concert with the general public invited. Assemblies were also given for both Junior High and High School. The Senior Sermon ended the season for the Orchestra.

Strains of the Operetta, "Oklahoma," were

Debators Improved With Practice

This year the Robert Waggoner Chapter of the National Forensic League increased their state standing by ten points. The debaters were the top Iowa team at the Augustana Invitational Debate tournament, the largest tournament in the mid-west.

Several banquets highlighted the year such as the fall and spring banquets which included extemporaneous contests, NFL initiation, and many major tournaments.

The Interpretive readers also had a successful year. Two members, Martha Gower and Iva Jean Gorsuch entered the District contest of the Iowa Forensic League. Martha qualified for state. Two other members, Patsy Peterson and Rachel Lewis, received superior ratings in the pre-district contest of the speech association. The Radio Speakers also did well in district contests and Jean Schultz qualified for state. Interpretive reading has become more popular for contest work.

Clubs Developed Interest In Science

Learning more about the present as well as the future, kept the newly organized science members interested and busy throughout the year. Under the guidance of Mr. Widell, the members held many educational meetings and worked on various projects.

Visiting Collins Radio in Cedar Rapids was an experience all of the members will remember. Another event that highlighted the year for the Science Club was the Science Fair held in Fort Dodge in March.

Learning the tasks and obligations of nursing kept the members of Future Nurses busy at work. Under the direction of Mrs. Proeschold many educational and entertaining meetings were held. The various meetings included election of officers and discussions of the different phases of nursing. Outside speakers in the medical field talked to the girls about the various opportunities that can be had through nursing.

One-Act Play Night

"Thursdays at Home" was a hilarious farce by Mae Howley Barry, with each part a "riot" to play. Maybelle believed women should be kinder to agents and so set aside Thursdays to receive them. She gave her grim housekeeper the day off, and the deluge began; a fast-talking seller of books, a woman peddling gaudy wax flowers, an agent with a broken sweeper and a pamphlet on how to sell it, a determined lady demonstrating curlers, a woman who sold a powerful vacuum cleaner with the help of a still more powerful voice, and a photographer who was determined to take a picture of the married Maybelle, curlers, books, and all. The agents came but they don't go, and the fun got funnier until the grim housekeeper strolled in and settled things.

"Albuquerque Ten Minutes" was a smart, amusing, human comedy by Florence Ryerson. The entire play took place in one scene, a small room in the Santa Fe Station at Albuquerque. The necessary ingredients needed for this presentation were two Indians, Thomas and Meeta, and one lady tourist, Mrs. Hoskins. Add to this two lovers, one a famous stage star, the other equally famous on the screen, meeting for the first time after a terrific quarrel.

The other play, "A Party Is Born," was a comedy by Edwin and Nathalie Gross. The production took place in the living room of the Lossing home, about seven o'clock on the evening of Janet's sweet-sixteen party. The Lossing household swelled into an uproar as the attempts for preparing Janet's party suddenly burst, at last minute notice. Party invitations were refused and while rolling up the rug a big chunk of plaster was knocked out of the wall. Then everyone scurried about trying to conceal the damage before the soon expected mother arrived.

All of the plays were under the competent direction of Mr. Kenneth Waterman.

Suspense and mystery on a rocky west coast island set the atmosphere for the Thespian Play on May 7.

Mrs. Williams, a middle-aged woman played by Pat Williamson, worked as a cover-up woman on a deserted island along with two spies. Their plans were upset by Sheriff Doolittle, played by Jim Robbins, and a party of six girls from a dramatics class who were stranded on the island and helped solve the mystery.

Talent Revealed Under Lights

“Curtain going up” was the familiar cry heard by the Dodger Thespians. Mr. Waterman, sponsor of the club, held various meetings to preview plays and readings. Highlights of the year were the fall initiation, the One Act Plays, winter initiation held at Treloar’s Inn, the Thespian Play May 7 and 8, and the spring picnic.

Membership in the club was awarded to those who earned the required points by participation in the dramatic field plus an active interest in this work. All active members received a gold letter “F” to be attached to the club pin by earning a total of 20 points. These awards were presented at a general assembly.

WHAT'S NEW IN

ATHLETICS

By Paying The Price

FORT DODGE 14

More than 3,500 fans watched the Dodgers begin their season by clipping Boone by a narrow one point margin. Although the Dodgers had a heavy edge on the ground, a fourth-period safety did the trick. Dodger scores came from Hobbs early in the second quarter, sneaking through the line; and Bockert early in the fourth, making the safety by dropping Boone deep in their end zone. Later in the game Bockert went around the end for six more points.

FORT DODGE 14

Coming from behind the Dodgers tore back in the middle of the second half to score two quick touchdowns and go ahead by a score of 14-13. Fumbles recovered by Doug Palmer and Roger Dunbar set up both touchdown marches. Then, with about four minutes left in the game Tech managed to spot a loose man in the end zone and flipped him the winning pass. Outstanding were Roger Porter on offense, and Arlen Jacobson at defense.

BOONE 13

FORT DODGE 20

In a rugged game with the Polar Bears from North Des Moines, Fort Dodge's home town boys were again defeated by a narrow one touchdown margin. The Polar Bears scored their winning six points in the last ten seconds of the game. It was a heart breaking contest in which the Dodgers outplayed North throughout the game. Fort Dodge rambled for 20 first downs as compared to only 14 for the Polar Bears. Dennis Bockert, halfback, was outstanding in the Dodger offense.

DES MOINES TECH 19

NORTH DES MOINES 26

FORT DODGE 7

With a hard hitting line the Dodgers were kept to 87 yards on the ground by the solid defense of East Sioux City. The longest gain for the Dodgers came from Bockert with a 15 yard burst to set up the only Dodger Touchdown. From the East 14 Hobbs shot a jump pass to Porter on the one yard line. From there Hobbs went over for six and Hallaway made it seven. During the rest of the game the biggest threat the Dodgers could make was to the East 25.

The Dodgers Caused Upsets

FORT DODGE 13

East's speed was the big factor as Fort Dodge lost its fourth straight game by one touchdown or less. The Trojan's ripped off 258 yards to the Dodger's 121. At times Fort Dodge's offense was unstoppable but just when they were in scoring position, it fizzled. Scoring for the Crimson and Black were Dennis Bockert and Dennis Hobbs. Dan Buffington, Tom Hallaway, and Terry Musselman played an outstanding defensive game, teaming together to stop touchdown drives.

EAST WATERLOO 20

FORT DODGE 13

The Annual Homecoming game was quite a battle as East defeated the Crimson and Black before 4,000 loyal Dodger fans. It was the fifth week in a row the Dodgers of Coach Al Hadar were defeated by a one-touchdown margin. It was a typical Big Six contest with the Dodgers outplaying East throughout the second half. Scoring for the Dodgers were Terry Breithauer, end, and Terry Musselman, halfback. Outstanding on both offense and defense was Tom Hallaway, end.

EAST DES MOINES 19

FORT DODGE 7

The Mohawks' superior size and outstanding speed was the deciding factor of the game. The Dodgers swept to a fast 7-6 lead late in the first quarter, but were unable to hold it in the face of overwhelming odds. Fort Dodge's lone score came when Roger Porter grabbed a fourth down pass in the Mohawks' end zone. Bruce Whelchel, senior fullback, led the backfield with an average of eight yards per carry. It was the Dodger's worst loss of the season.

MASON CITY 32

FORT DODGE 25

A two touchdown margin by West Waterloo beat Fort Dodge in a scoring circus. The Dodgers could put up only a fair defense as the Wahawk's single-wing made plenty of yardage on the turf and in the air. After falling behind 20-0, Halligan helped push the Dodgers 62 yards to their first touchdown. Buffington recovered a West fumble to set up the next Dodger score. The final Fort Dodge touchdown came when Hobbs fired a 45 yard pass from his own 20 to Porter.

Determination Paid Off

FORT DODGE 26

The annual Lion's Club Charity game saw Fort Dodge defeat third ranked Sioux City Central. A crowd of about 1,200 sat through a drizzle to witness the upset which ended the season for the Dodgers. Kenny Halligan crossed paydirt three times and played an outstanding game as did

Wrestling Facilities Pleased Matmen

With a lack of experience, strength, and natural ability, the Dodger matmen had a rough season winning but two dual meets, placing fifth in district, and eighth in state.

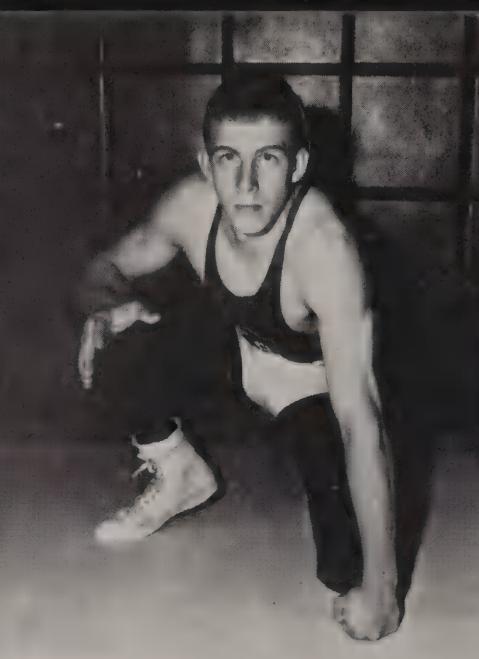

In a season of top condition the two lone victories were taken from defending state champion teams. The first from Blue Earth, Minnesota, was the closest meet of the year and was decided by a fall from heavyweight Jerry Lampe with only 40 seconds left in the third period. Being down 15-0 after three matches the Dodgers made a tremendous comeback with Messerly, Pontius, Horton, McCutchen, Hutchinson and Lampe racking up the necessary points.

The next victory proved to be the state's greatest wrestling upset of the season when the Dodgers dropped defending Iowa champions East Waterloo 18-15. Trailing 6-0 Patterson led the comeback. Most of the close matches went to the Dodgers. With skill and desire Patterson was followed with wins by Messerly, Pontius, Pederson, McCutchen, and Hutchinson. Messerly defeated defending state champion Buzzard while 165 pounder Albright assured the Dodgers of their win. With spirits high the week following the East meet the Dodgers entered a rough Waterloo district in which they placed fifth. District champion Ron McCutchen and runners-up Dennis Messerly and Larry Pederson came through in the district and proceeded to state. There 138 pounder Pederson placed second and 120 pounder Messerly third to gain FDHS an 8th in the state.

Although the season brought hard-fought defeats from Eagle Grove, East and North Des Moines, West Waterloo, Britt, Mason City, and Clarion much determination and a strong will to win showed in every match. Throughout the season the matmen showed fine spirit.

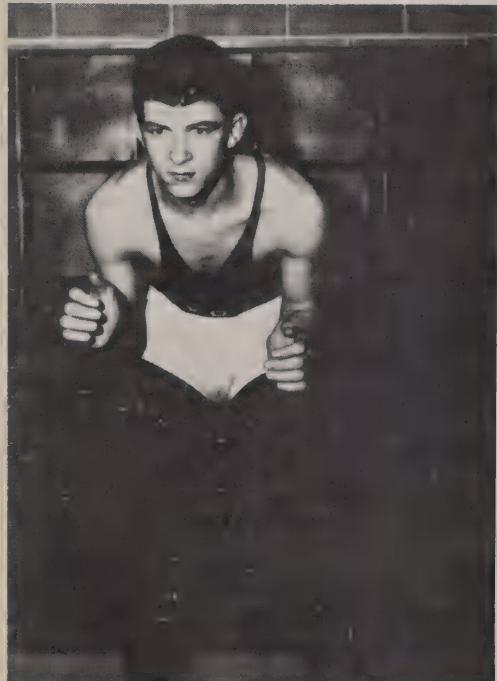

Meeting at the end of the season the team elected Larry Pederson honorary captain.

This was the first year for Fort Dodge to break into the state champion ranks in swimming. Capturing the honor was Bruce Nelson. Nelson won his title in the 200 yard free style race in a blistering time of 2:01.2, setting a new state record. Also placing high in the state meet was Lee Peters, who swam the 100 yard breast stroke. Peters placed second in the meet. Everett Pierce, senior backstroker, also placed third in state. Placing second in state meet was the medley relay team composed of Nelson, Peters, Pierce and Kenny LaCaille.

The Dodgers had an excellent season with a record of six wins and 2 losses. After losing their first meet to Sioux City Central the Aqua Aces came back to trounce the opposition six times in a row. Going down in defeat were Boone, Lincoln, East, and North of Des Moines. Then the Sioux City Central jinx again haunted the "splash" boys.

On February 7, the Dodgers went to District and came back with fourth place honors. Then on February 14, the Dodgers captured sixth place in the state contest.

The Dodgers will have a lot of returning talent next year. Lee Peters, a sophomore, who placed high in the state meet will be back again. Also returning will be John Gustin, Gene Spiess, and Dan White, a trio of real speedy free-stylers. Stan Siefer, a junior, will be back again as a real strong backstroke artist. Bud Beamer, another junior, will be representing the tankers on the diving board. Steve Giles will be back again to swim the butterfly race. Several other returning lettermen will also be returning to give the Dodger swimming team added strength. Nelson and Pierce were elected co-captains at the end of a very successful season.

Skill And Determination

For the first time in 10 years a tremendous Fort Dodge basketball team traveled to state competition. After hitting 51% and defeating Atlantic 66-56 in the final round of district the Dodgers traveled to Ames to oppose Des Moines Roosevelt in the first pairing of state play. Although supported by an army of loyal followers Roosevelt's giants proved too great for the shorter Dodgers as they were stopped 61-33. The five senior starters couldn't seem to get warm until the second half and yet hit only 18% during the entire game. Roosevelt, ranked as the tallest high school team in the nation, was outscored by the Dodgers in the second half 22-21.

The Dodgers chance for state was well earned as both District games were hard fought and only the better team won. Battling through the first round the Dodgers clipped Sioux City Central 69-66. Shooting a fabulous 57%, the winning points came from Bockert and Kudron. In the second game a full house of Dodger supporters witnessed the Red and Black knock Atlantic out of the running with a slick 66-56 total. Controlling both boards and court the Dodgers earned their setting in state.

Climbing the ladder to District play wasn't an easy job as the Dodgers barely slipped past Carroll Kuemper and Humboldt. With a one point difference and five seconds remaining the Dodgers' luck held as they defeated Kuemper 42-41. Real fire and skill was the ticket to end a 3 year jinx as Humboldt was downed 52-47.

Boasting an 11-9 record the season was highlighted by wins over East and West Waterloo. Causing one of the biggest upsets of the year the Dodgers put an end to East's 13-game winning streak by a 49-48 advantage. The season was an excellent one from the spectator viewpoint.

Cindermen Won Honors

Beginning the 1958 track season with eleven returning lettermen, the Dodgers won four first places in a combination of seven relays and dual meets.

The Drake Relays provided individual honors as Sherwyn Thorson placed second in the football throw and Jim Sanford tied for first in the pole vault.

After opening the '58 season with a second place in a Triangular Meet at Mason City, the cindermen returned to their home track and racked up a first by downing Boone and Webster City. Firsts in the Humboldt Relays, Toreador Relays, and a Humboldt Dual Meet helped top off a successful season.

A total of 52 points scored both a fourth in District and a fifth in the Big Six while only two points were earned in state.

At the end of the season the team met and elected Pat Reed and Jim Sanford honorary team captains.

Batboys Played A Rough Schedule

The Dodger batboys were plagued by bad breaks throughout the entire season in 1958. As a result the Dodgers were eliminated from the sectional tournament by a tough Eagle Grove team. The Dodgers faced East Des Moines in the Big Six tournament but were defeated by the stronger, more experienced team. The strong-hearted Dodger team gave it all they had throughout the season and wound up winning six games while losing only five. Dean Peterson, senior first baseman, was elected as the team captain.

The Dodgers look forward to an outstanding season in 1959. Sparked with nine returning lettermen and a strong reserve team, the Dodgers hoped to place high in the tournaments this year. Should the Dodgers have good steady pitching this could become a reality.

The Dodger golf team played a rough schedule during the 1958 season with such teams as Boone and Iowa Falls. A well balanced team that contained almost as many freshmen as upper classmen won a total of three meets while losing the same amount. In a tough district the Dodger golfers placed sixth. The Dodgers also placed fourth in Big Six competition. Stan Griffith, senior player, was elected captain for the 1958 golf season.

Junior College Faculty Gave

Making an adjustment from the old building to the new one was smoothly made by the faculty. Thanks to Dean Hughes' organization, the students were also able to adjust themselves to the new school. As would be expected, the new building meant questions to be answered. The person who handed out the answers to many of these questions was Howard Hughes, the Dean of Junior College. With his counseling and guidance, the Panthers were able to carry on their activities with full assurance. Mr. Hughes was also advisor to the College Student Council.

Working right along with Dean Hughes was Paul Seydel, high school principal, who served as the official registrar for Junior College. If anyone ever needed help in selecting courses and planning schedules, Paul Seydel was the man with the willing hand. These two men provided the students with rewarding advice which was deeply appreciated. One of the most important functions that Mr. Seydel and Mr. Hughes performed was that they were both part of a committee which dealt with the awarding of scholarships for Junior College.

Advice, Guidance, Instruction

The academic program had something new added to it also since the move to the new building. For the elementary teaching program, a special music education course was added. This course was not started until the second semester of the year. The Junior College curriculum consisted of studies in psychology, foreign languages, social studies, art, music, mathematics, science, engineering drawing, English literature, business administration, communications, secretarial training and elementary education. A greater interest in all courses was evident when the students stepped into the new surroundings. This was due to the fact that the equipment was better and easier to work with, especially in the science and fine arts courses. The enrollment proved to be larger this year than the previous year. Approximately two hundred and fifty students enrolled at the beginning of the first semester. This year has been an interesting experience for all those in the college. Knowledge has truly been gained by the students from the ardent work of Paul Seydel, Howard Hughes and members of the Junior College faculty.

College Life

Yes, college life was truly fun this year. The big highlight of the first semester was the homecoming festivity. The night of homecoming will be remembered by all who either went to the open house, cheered through the football game, or climaxed the eventful occasion by attending the homecoming dance which was held in the gym of the old high school.

ADDING HIS MUSICAL ABILITY to the homecoming assembly was Malcom Brinker, a student teacher from I.S.T.C.

STUDYING FOR THOSE ASSIGNMENTS was not a chore in the peaceful surroundings of the new library.

JITTER-BUGGING, two-stepping and many other varied styles were seen at the homecoming dance.

DRINKING PUNCH, chewing on cookies and just chit-chatting kept everyone entertained at an open house before the homecoming game.

Was Fun

Besides the homecoming activities, Junior College students organized many dances in their new lounge following the home basketball games. Later on in the spring, the main project was the Variety Show. The show meant hours of work and worry, but it was something that everyone gained experience from besides the joy of getting to know their fellow students better.

MAKING UP TIME for an assignment in business machines is keeping Jon Cook busy.

EATING IS ONE THING that J.C. students never miss. The new cafeteria was one of the new additions that the College Panthers really enjoyed.

POSING FOR A PICTURE are the girls that make up the Queen's Court for the 1959 homecoming.

REIGNING AS HOMECOMING QUEEN was Marilyn Anderson, who always had a smile for anyone.

Classrooms Had Excellent Equipment

FASCINATED BY THE WONDERS OF BIOLOGY are Gerald Kuehn and Dennis Keck as Mr. Bath works with them in the laboratory.

MANY INTERESTING PROJECTS keep the Panther art students busy.

ANOTHER PROSPECTIVE BUSINESSMAN is Kenny Estlund as he is found perfecting his skill in business machines.

Council Assumed Leadership

The Junior College Student Council launched its year's activities with the election of officers as follows: Dick Klaessy, president; Dean Peterson, vice-president; and Patsy Maguire, secretary. The council advisor was Dean Hughes.

The new Panther Room was the gathering place of the council meetings as well as the lounging area for the students. The pop and candy machines provided extra funds for student activities.

The J. C. homecoming dance was the first major dance sponsored by the council. Later dances were held in the New Panther lounge after the basketball games and also the all-school semi-formal. The most important project of the year was the production of the J. C. Variety Show which was written, directed and presented by the students in April. The Student Council played its part in the life of Junior College.

Sorority Kept Busy

The Fort Dodge chapter of the sorority, Sigma Alpha Phi, began their activities early in September. Installed as officers of the group in an impressive ceremony were Betty Johnson, President; Helen Mallinger, vice-president; Phyllis Ramirez, secretary; Bonnie Stone, treasurer. Miss Ethel Shannon was the faculty advisor for the group.

The girls held regular monthly meetings with well planned programs or parties. Each program included playing games of several varieties which captured the interests of all attending, and afterwards refreshments were always served. One meeting of this type was held at Miss Shannon's home where she was hostess to the girls. In the spring the members of the sorority made preparations for and entertained their mothers at a mother-daughter tea. The Sigma Alpha Phi is always an active organization.

"Varieties" Made A Comeback

MANY WEEKS of evening meetings keeps the authors of the Variety Show busy. The members of this committee are—Barb Gibb, Joyce Blunk, Bruce Hanes, Dick Bruner, Ann Peterson, and Judy Ozimek.

AFTER THE SHOW IS WRITTEN the first group to get started is the advertising committee. Slogans, signs, and the general outline is being discussed by Justin Peterson, Aina Janson, Dean Peterson, and Doug Bracken. The show was presented April 23, 24 in the Little Theater.

PROBLEMS of lighting, size of sets, and backdrops is a big chore. Those who contributed their skill to the staging of the show are Marvin Mortenson, Clyde Knupp, and Joe Prieskorn.

COSTUMING the show is a big job. The girls who added their knowledge of colors and fabrics to this are Diane Messerly, Graceann Hoffa, Jean Long, and Judy Peters.

Journalists Covered The Year

The Panther yearbook staff began their year promoting sales of yearbooks with the help and advice of their editor, Barb Gibb, and advisor, Clair Culver. Pictures were scheduled and shot, dummy sheets were drawn up and copy was finally completed. Many routine problems kept the staff busy.

The Panther Den section of the school newspaper was published once every two weeks with the aid of the staff's faculty advisor, Miss Larkin. Highlights of the year were covered along with personal interest stories and campus conversation.

Student Teachers of J. C.

The Iowa Student Education Association boasted of twenty-four members this year. Of these, officers were elected as follows: Ruth Hepperle, president; Kay Hepperle, vice-president; Molly Britton, secretary; Gloria Urban, treasurer; Claudia Arnold, music director; Marilyn Anderson and Mary Lake, reporters. Mrs. Crane headed the elementary program this year.

Meetings were held one evening each month at which the students were entertained by speakers. A few of the topics discussed included bulletin boards presented by an art director, skills in physical education, purpose of ISEA, and a visit was made by the county psychiatrist. December was made festive with the annual Christmas party. Members attended the ISEA Convention in Estherville. Two members were sent to the State Delegate Assembly where they took part in drafting the New Code of Ethics for Iowa teachers. Meetings were an opportunity for everyone to have fun and exchange valuable ideas about teaching skills.

Eleven of the members began their student teaching April 6 by observing in the elementary grades and later practice teaching in various schools in the city.

Grid Men Had An Average Season

RETURNING LETTERMEN—John Tallman,
Leonard McPherson, Jack Mallaro.

When the Panthers reported for football practice at the beginning of the year they were greeted by the new Panther coach Max Sparger. Although for the lack of men reporting, Sparger built a team that the Junior College was proud of.

The Panthers started the season with twenty-five players and ended the season with fourteen. Out of these fourteen the Panthers will have six returning lettermen. From these men the coach will build next year's team.

LEADING THE PANTHERS on the field are Merriman and McPherson.

Season's Record

PANTHERS 12

The Panthers, under the direction of the new head coach Max Sparger, got the season rolling with a 12-0 win over the Buena Vista "B" squad. The Panthers' rugged defense and potent offense were by both ground and air too much for the Beaver Kits. Jon Cook and Roger Pribnow scored on short runs from inside the Beaver Kits five.

BUENA VISTA "B" 0

PANTHERS 6

The homecoming game for the Panthers proved to be a tough one. Both teams battled for three quarters until Worthington pushed the pigskin across the goal line with nine minutes remaining in the final quarter. The Panthers came rolling back to score on a one yard plunge by fullback John Tallman. The game ended in a 6-6 deadlock.

PANTHERS 6

In a closely fought game the Panthers were defeated by the Mason City Trojans, 13-6. Sparger's boys drew first blood after recovering a Trojan fumble. Three plays later Jon Cook carried the ball over from the one yard line. In the second period the Trojans came bouncing back with an 11 yard burst by Jim Hahn for the 6 pointer. Hahn scored again the third period on a 25 yard run for the final Trojan touchdown.

PANTHERS 33

The Panthers got back on the winning track by convincingly beating the Westmar reserves 33-0. Coach Sparger was able to clear the bench in a great moral victory for the Panthers. Gephart had another great night completing 9 for 13 passes good for 189 yards. Fullback John Tallman played a tough defensive game and end Justin Peterson shined on offense. This was an outstanding game of the season.

PANTHERS 0

An outmanned Panther team outplayed a fine Estherville J. C. team, but all was in vain as the Panthers were caught on the short end of 7-0 ball game. The running and passing of Fred Gephart was the highlight for the Panthers. Gephart had an 11 yard per carry average and completed 65 per cent of his passes.

ESTHERVILLE 7

PANTHERS 41

In the last home game of the season the Panthers showed an amazing display of offensive and defensive power with a 41-0 victory over the Red Raiders from Orange City. The Panthers rolled up 509 yards while they held the Red Raiders to only 85 yards. Three of the Panthers averaged over 12 yards per carry.

NORTHWESTERN 0

THOSE EXTRA YARDS are chalked up by Gephart.

Warriors Of The Gridiron

PANTHERS 19

In the final game of the season the Panthers were nipped by Waldorf J. C. 26-19 in a closely fought game. There was not much defense as the two teams traded scores. The loss gave the Panthers a final record of three wins, three losses and one tie. Six Panthers played their last game of Junior College football.

Bucket-Men Had Rough Season

The inexperienced Panthers basketball squad suffered defeat in the first game of the 1958-59 season as they lost to Ellsworth Junior College 90-58. Jon Cook was high for the Panthers with 12.

The Panthers were still unable to find the basket in the second game against Northwestern. They found themselves on the short end of a lopsided score. Duane Hartzler was high for the game with 20 points.

In game three the Panthers again tried to get in the winning column, but lost to Webster City Junior College. Hartzler was high for the Panthers.

In game four the Panthers went up against what was supposed to be one of Eagle Grove's best basketball teams in years. The Panther's shooting was pretty hot but the Eagle Grove team was too tall. Jon Cook was high with 20 points.

The Panthers almost broke into the winning column but lost a close one to Ellsworth Junior College. Ditzenberger was high for the Panthers with 29 points.

The Panthers looked like a different team as they took the floor against Emmetsburg. The Panthers came out on top with the score 84 to 77. Pat Leonard was high for the Panthers with 23.

The Panthers couldn't get on the winning streak and lost to Mason City twice and also to Estherville. The Panthers came back to defeat Webster City Junior College 51 to 47. The Panthers scoring were Ditzenberger with a high of 15, followed by Leonard and Hartzler.

The rest of the season the Panthers lost close ball games. They lost to Grandview of Des Moines, Estherville, Northwestern, Emmetsburg, and ended the season losing to Eagle Grove.

The Panther record was not good enough for tournament play so the Panthers called it quits.

1959 Baseball Schedule

Four returning lettermen and some of the finest baseball prospects to graduate from high schools in this area will bolster this year's Junior College team. Last year's squad finished with a won 4 and lost 3 and one game ended in a tie because of darkness. The Panthers will open an eight-game schedule against Eagle Grove on the home field. Coach Robert Silke will be starting his second season as the Panther mentor.

And Now The End Approaches

As the first year at our new high school draws to a close. It has been a pleasant year for the staff in spite of many problems and hard work, with the capable help of Mr. Culver, our yearbook advisor, the '59 Dodger is finally published. The staff is happy to present this book with the hopes that it will bring back pleasant memories to you in the future. We hope you like
